

EUSW seminar in co-operation with EASSW on teaching methodologies
at KHKempen University College
21-22 April 2008

In many European countries Social Work curricula are in change. Modularization, competence based learning, rethinking the integration of theory and internationalizing education are some of the underlying driving forces.

The Social Work department of KHKempen University College organizes a seminar on teaching methodology in close co-operation with EUSW and EASSW. The seminar aims at training colleagues with a hand-on approach.

The seminar focuses on coaching and supporting students by creating a powerful learning environment. The seminar starts from the learning experiences of the participants. Participants will choose a learning methodology which they then develop during two days. The options are: Theme Centred Interaction (Ruth Cohn), Active Learning (David Kolb), Appreciative Approach (David Cooperrider)

If you are interested in gaining more insight into your teaching style and methodology and brushing them up at the same time, this seminar will satisfy your needs. You will learn from sharing and comparing your experiences with others.

The seminar is hosted by the KHKempen University College in Geel Belgium and runs from 21-22 9 a.m.- 4 p.m.

There is no seminar fee, but travel and accommodation costs are on the account of the participants.

For accommodation we recommend the Corbie Hotel. Send an e-mail to info@corbiehotel.com or contact the hotel manager Pauline Koch 0032 473 53 40 39

Please prepare yourself thoroughly and bring your materials in English, so that you can share them with colleagues.

Registrations should be sent before 10 April 2008 to jan.agten@khk.be using the attached registration form. The electronic form is also available on www.eassw.org and on <http://www.eusw.unipr.it>

Hope to meet you in Geel!
